One Fallows' Hall, —This evening, Mr. Kunkel will receive from his friends in this city a complimentary benefit. That he is in every way deserving of a bumper there is, in overy
the the occasion is a select one, and replete such fun. Seymour and Lehr appear to the best possible advantage; Charles and Floyd in new dances, and Mr. Kunkel and others of the company in amusing burlesques, choice ballads, Contributation the benefit to night.

Contributation the benefit to night to unavoidable droumstances, the opening of this great place of amusement was postponed until to night. Our roaders may rest assured of no disappointment to-night. The thousand and one little essentials of such a place as the managers into to present, require more preparation than the people are aware of, and when it is once in good running order, the public will be more than repaid for these unfortunate designs. Be sure and go to-night and witness the grand opening.

Drunk, Profine and Disorderly.

Brumb. Frafame and Disorderly.

Bennis Nolan was up before Justice Stratton, in the seventh ward, on Tuesday, on the above combination of charges, all the result of the first named, and fined $1.94$ and sent on his way. A short time afterward, he got into another row and was again hauled up, and this time need $3.94.

Two apparently respectable young men were in company with Nolan, and were arrested with him the second time and fined for being likewiderly but as they were not drank, and their principal offence seemed to consist in being in bad company, we forbear making their names public, in the hope that this event may warn them of the vortex of ruin in which they are entering, and induce them to be more salect in the choice of their associates in future.

David Shay, arrested the same day for pro finity and disorderly conduct, was fined by Justice Stratton $1.91.

We have heard of one or two instances where persons, freed under the act of Congress, have been run off into slavery in order to retain postession of the "chattel." One instance in particular has been mentioned to us where a bright, intelligent boy on the Island auddeely disappeared immediately after the signing of the bill by the President. No clue can be obtained as this whereabouts, but we would inform the kidoapper of that boy, as well as all other owners who are disposed to engage in this nefarious work, that, as a list of all who were slaveholders when the census was taken is to be published by the Senate, they may as well quickly bring their chattels back, and thus save themselves the mortification of an exposure of their abountable practices.

The Long Bridge Again Broken. The heavy sink for several days past, have caused the Potomac to be very high, driving down a great deal of drift-wood. On Tuesday, about noon, the steamer Lady Washington went through the draw with such haste that the attendants had no time to raise the draw. The consequence is, that the draw is completely weaked and the pier abutment much damaged. The injury is great, and that important athoroughfare will be again closed for a long time. It is a matter of some surprise that so trail a structure about exist so long in so important a place as this. Since the cessation of the rain the river has fallen considerably, and the carrent is not so rapid. the carrent is not so rapid.

Officer Campbell, of the 10th district, arrested Charles English, a soldier of the Sixth cavalry, yeaterday afternoon, on the charge of tetaing a ham from the wagon of Gotlieb Herbert, while in front of McGinnis's store on Fstreet, near Fighting Alley. He was taken to the station and confined until a proper examination shall be had. He is an old offender, and his chances for looking through a small aperture for daylight, are pretty good.

Rebellton.

William H. Martin, an engineer on one of the transport steamers on the river, got a little of that enemy of all order and good conduct, whisky, into his head, and rebelled against the constituted authority of the vessel, and began te kick up a rumpus generally on the vessel, threatening the captain, &c., when Capt. Callom thought best to circumseribe his influence, in a measure. Accordingly, he tied him with a strong rope, and delivered him over to be police. He was tried before Justice Stratton, convicted of disorderly conduct, and fined contricted of disorderly conduct, and fine contricted of disorderly conduct, and fine contricted of payment of which he wa ent to the workhouse.

Set ing Liquor on Sunday

Julius Ress, who has recently opened a new see for the retailing of polson by the glass, on the sized, on the island, was arrested last Tuesday, by officer Vernon, and taken before Justice Stratton, where he was convicted of sell of biguer on Sunday, and fined $25 94. Served him right.

Win. Dawson, a teamster, was arrested on Tuesday, on the corner of Maryland avenue and Eleventh street, for committing a nulsance in the public streets, in the presence of women and children, and fined 45. Some men seem to be clayated but a little above the scale of the brute.

The body of Mr. Thomas Medirath, a member of the city council, who was drowned a few weeks since near Port Tobacco creek, was few diast Tuesday, and a boat was sent down for the corporations.

W. F. Parriga and S. Arboleda, of New Grana-da, representatives to this Government from the United States of Columbia, S. A., arrived in this city yesterday, and are at the National Hotel.

Terrible Accident at the Washington On Tuesday, a little after I o'clock, quite a terious accident occurred at the Washington Arsenal, in consequence of the ignition of sone powder, shiels, but for the very was precautions which had been taken to prevent such serious accident occurred at the Washington Arasanal, in consequence of the ignition of son e powder, which, but for the very wise precautions which had been taken to prevent such disasters, might have resulted in an extensive and awful-spicolon.

Owing to the west amount of work which has necessarily been thrown upon that institution, in consequence of the war, by which all the buildings and apparatus have been burdened to in their attack respectly, and even beyond their capacity in some instances, the chiclent superintendent. Col. G. D. Rumsay, has been obliged to resort to every expediency to increase the capacity of the amend, and to prevent accidents.

In furtherance of these objects, a few days since, eight men engaged in the manufacture of fuse, were removed from a large building in consequence of the crowded state of the place. to a small brick building, about fifteen feet equare temporarily arranged for the purpose. At the time the accident occurred, these eight men were engaged in driving paper fuses for hollow prejectiles, a process not considered specially dangarous, though great caution is observed. It is the filling of the paper tubes previously prepared with a composition, consisting of meal powder, nitre, &c.; a composition mot explosive in its character, because designed to burn slowly. The, tube is placed inside of an iron case, and the composition, consisting of meal powder, nitre, &c.; a composition met explosive in its character, because designed to burn slowly. The, tube is placed in the room.

Not long after one o'clock, while those men were engaged in this business, the powder of one of the men suddenly ignited, and he being very much frightened, attempted to throw the burning material from him, while at the same time it ignited all the powder in the room. There was no explosion, but a rapid burning of all the combustine matter in the room. There was no explosion, but a rapid burning of all the combustine material from him, while at the same time it ignited as in the powder of one of the ciothes off the skin of his arms came off with them. Yet, with these fearful scars he bravely walked to the hospital, a considerable distance off.

The bell of the Arsenal was rung on the first slarm, and the mon railied with a will; the fre apparatus were promptly brought out, and we learn that the flames were extinguished mainly through the prompt and vigorous efforts of the men of Company F. Twenty-seventh Pannsylvania volunteers, who are doing duty at this post, and who arrived at the scene of the disaster a few minutes after its occurrence. The skillful manner in which the hose and apparatus were handled proved that the men have not forgotten their duties as Polladelphia freemen. Four mee, of the eight who were in the room, were quite severally burned. Their names are John Stokes, Michael Desmond, Oilver Balley, John Adams, and James Downs. Adams is shout fifteen years of age, and is the met severally injured, though it is believed he will recover.

We saw him and two others of the sufferers at the heapital, where they are having the best of attention. The mother of young Adams was at his side apparently in deep distress, at the sufferings of her son, who hore his affliction with the patience and fortitude of a hero. The principal injury to all the injured men, as the sufferings of her son, who hore his affliction with the patience and fortitude of a hero. The principal injury to all the injured men, the principal injury to all the injured men, there is the liability to such accident, whatever may be the precaution used, and it is a matter of great surprise that such an accident as this, or a more serious one, has not concrete here is the liability to s

For the Girls—A Love Letter.

It would seem that the spirit of the girls in "Secessia" is buoyant; that they are "sassay" as ever. The following, from a North Carolina beauty, gives an excellent reason to her army lover for not hugging the boys any more, viz: they are all gone. It seems that the stringency of the blockede has not laid an embargo on snuff dipping," though they have, perhaps, like most Northern politicians, "quit eating dirt." Our readers will excuse the spolling on account of the sore eyes of the fair Marthy. The letter was picked up at a descried rebei camp at Beaufort:

The Abelitics of Slavery Im the District.

The Abolition of Siavery in the Distric Some angry feeling is manifested by the members of the "first families" of Maryland and of Virginia about the abolition of slavery in this District, a few single-ladies who never owned a negro or had a white man at their feet, making the loudest complaint. But the greater portion of the citizens of Washington are evidently thankful that the Federal city is no longer to furnish Congressional discutants with a hone of contention.—Cor. N. Y. Com.
